EASTERN STAR OBSERVES FOUNDER'S DAY.

The annual affair commemorating the birthday of Rob Morris, founder of the Order of the Eastern Star, was observed Wednesday night, August 21st, by the local Chapter No. 404, O. E. S., with guests including members of the local Masonic lodge and their wives. There were about eighty-five present. The lodge rooms were decorated for the occasion with late summer blossoms.

The following delightful program was rendered:

Dances by Sis Merritt's pupils as follows: Line of tap, by Misses Willie Jean and Alma Nester, Laura Lee Leinweber, Susie Muennink, Mary Ann Noonan and Jean Warden; petite ballet, by Julia Mazelle Crow; high hat tap, by Fay Jean Bedell; buck tap, by Susie Muennink; and solo ballet, by Laura Lee Leinweber.
Miss Evelyn Barnes sang a solo, "A Sun Bonnet Blue", with Miss Mary Ruth Wilson accompanying on the piano. Miss Barnes and Miss Wilson then sang in duet "When a Gypsy Makes His Violin Cry".

The principal address for the occasion was given by Mrs. Stella Vondrie of San Antonio, past Worthy Grand Matron, who gave the highlights of the founder's life in a very pleasing manner. Other brief addresses were given by Mrs. Anne Canze, District Deputy Grand Matron; Mrs. Emma Leinweber, Deputy Grand Matron, and Mr. Earl Starnes, Deputy Grand Master.

During the social hour refreshments of chicken salad, saltines, pickles, cake and spiced tea were served.

The following were the committees who planned and successfully conducted the party: program, Mrs. Earl Starnes, chairman, and Mrs. E. J. Leinweber; decorating, Mrs. Barnitz Carle, chairman, and Mesdames Marvin Schweers and Nookie Bendele; refreshments, Mrs. Garland Martin, chairman, and Mesdames R. W. Speece, V. P. King, Henry Windrow and Earl Cureton.

RELIEF SET-UP CHANGED.

A change in relief affairs was made last week, going into effect on August 18th, when the local Re-employment and Welfare Administration for Medina County was discontinued. Under a new relief set-up Medina County is now one of eleven counties in this district with main offices at Uvalde.

The local office now consists solely of a Case Worker in Charge and several helpers. They are Miss Mary Ruth Cameron, case worker in charge, her assistants, Mesdames Etta Langford, Barfield and Elmer Rothe; Miss Ida Belle Benson, stenographer, and Mr. Henry Batot, Jr., Commodity Clerk.

All relief affairs for the County will be administered through the Uvalde district office and executed by the above workers.

PRODUCE SHIPMENTS INCREASED.

Broom corn shipment for the past week were seven cars, bringing the total up to 24 cars thus far for the season.

Three cars of maize for the week, making a total for the season of 10 cars, were shipped.

Five cars of hembra have also been shipped this season, two of the cars having gone out during the past week.

Over the same period Hondo freight office has billed out four cars of maize and two of hembra that were shipped from Dunlay.

As we went to press Thursday eight cars of produce, including corn, were being loaded at the tracks and it looked somewhat like old times when we knew what prosperity meant.

HONDO'S FIRST BALE.

F. Lopez, a tenant on Gus Batot's farm, brought in the first bale of cotton of the 1935 season Friday, August 16th. This lacked one day of being a month later than the first bale which came in on July 17th last year and was a month and one day later than the first bale of 1933 which came in on July 15th.

The bale was ginned by Mrs. J. W. Holloway's gin and up to the time of going to press Thursday five bales had been ginned.

The cotton crop of this section is going to be extremely light this year, due to many adverse circumstances but chiefly boll weevil damage.

PEARSALL BEATS STARS.

The Highway 90 All-Stars made seven hits, three runs and two errors. The Rangers scored 10 hits, six runs and one error.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite,

CLIFF MADDOX, ADVERTISING MANAGER OF THE BORGER (TEXAS) DAILY HERALD, SAYS:

"In regards to advertising, I am not closed on the subject of newspaper advertising. I recognize other media as necessary for the successful fulfillment of a well-balanced advertising campaign, but for the largest bulk of any advertising copy, either local or national, I would venture to say there is no other media even within shooting distance of newspapers. By this I mean newspapers offer so many distinctive advantages over other media for straight selling copy, it is almost incomparable.

"First, one of the main advantages of using newspaper space today is the news interest which incidentally has never before in history been of such potent interest to the public as a whole as it is today.

"Second, the advantage of reaching the most people through newspapers who are able to buy, ready to buy, and looking for merchandise they are in a receptive mood to be sold on.

"Third, the advantage of reaching a concentrated market. By this I mean an investment of the advertising dollar into a market that affords the greatest possible number of sales prospects for the number of messages delivered and read."

Your advertising message in this paper will be delivered among those from whom you must secure your trade.

BAPTIST NEWS NOTES.

The Baptists are never a spectacular people—to live right before God and men is their plea for a place in the confidence of their neighbors. They are strictly a Biblical people. The Bible and the Bible alone is their religion. Sometimes a few of them have a difficult time practicing their faith. For they are mostly human. The place of prayer in the Christian life was the Pastor's topic on last Sunday morning. To talk humbly with God is at once a privilege and a great blessing. Really, the exercise of prayer is a necessary daily duty. Prayer is the Christian's vital breath; the Christian's native air; his watchword at the gates of death. He enters heaven with prayer. It is personal communion with God. Dear Reader, fail not to pray. Out of courtesy for our Methodist friends, the Baptists call in their evening services. It is hoped our people shall reap much spiritual benefit from these meetings, and lend their prayerful co-operation. As a people, the Baptists are total abstainers when it comes to intoxicating liquors. Whiskey drinkers do not look well anywhere, least of all in a church. The Baptists have the following definition of a barrel of whiskey: "A barrel of headaches, of heart aches, of woes, a barrel of curses, a barrel of blows; a barrel of tears from a world-weary wife; a barrel of sorrows, a barrel of strife; a barrel of unavailing regret; a barrel of cares, a barrel of debt; a barrel of crime and a barrel of pain; a barrel of hopes all blasted and vain. A barrel of falsehood, a barrel of cries that fall from the maniac's lips as he dies. A barrel of agony, heavy and dull; a barrel of poison—of this quite full. A barrel of liquid that often fires the brain of the man who thinks it inspires. A barrel of poverty, of ruin and blight; a barrel of terrors that grow with the night; a barrel of hunger, a barrel of groans, a barrel of orphans' most pitiful moans. A barrel of serpents that hiss as they pass from the bead of the liquor that glows in the glass." Liquor and religion don't mix. Since Baptists feel called of God to help make the right type of citizens, the right type of men for husbands, the right type of people to strengthen the church of God, Baptists generally may be expected to vote against repeal. The Baptist Pastor and church will give any man or woman a most cordial welcome to come and worship God with us, at any time. Services next Sunday morning.

R. W. MEKRILL, Pastor.

A PAGE OF LOCAL HISTORY.

In 1880 where Hondo now stands was a wide open prairie, with a lone ranch house on the slough just south-east of town. The wagon trail from San Antonio to Fort Clark and other points west passed over the site of the present town. The S. P. Railroad had not been built west of San Antonio and all freight to points west was transported by wagon.

Our fellow townsman, Joe L. Haby, then a young man, was engaged in the freighting business. Returning from a trip to Fort Clark, in company with Nic Bendele and Joe Marty, all three of whom lived at that time in Castroville, they camped one night at D'Hanis. It rained on them, but they started out any way and reached the Rothe hill just west of Hondo a little before noon in a pouring down rain. The prairie all around them was flooded with water and they did not dare to try to proceed further. A Mexican teamster was stranded with a load of lumber near where the Fair Ground is now located and the water came up over the top of his load of lumber. They helped him and his team out and he spent that afternoon and night drying himself by their fire.

It quit raining about mid-day but they did not attempt to move on until noon the next day. Even then, when crossing the slough just west of town, water came up into the beds of their big eight-mule freight wagons and some of the smaller mules in the teams had to swim.

When they first struck camp on the hill, every thing was so wet they had trouble getting a fire started. They finally found enough dry material in their "grub-box" to kindle a fire in one of their cooking utensils. Once started wood was plentiful on the hill and they managed to dry their clothing, but their meal and bacon, the only food they had, was water-soaked.

That was the time the mill on the Hondo near the present highway bridge across the Hondo was washed away, and they first learned of it when they arrived at the creek on their homeward journey to Castroville.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

The annual MISSION FESTIVAL will be observed at our church on Sunday, September 1. The Rev. H. C. Ziehe of San Antonio has consented to be the speaker of the day. He will occupy the pulpit for the morning service, which will be held in the English language beginning at 10:00 A. M. At the night service beginning at 8:00 o'clock, Rev. Ziehe will deliver a lecture "Illustrated" by a fine collection of relics from our mission field in New Guinea. This collection has never been in Hondo before.

We want you to plan to be present at both services and lend your full support to our mission program.

Sunday school and Bible class will meet on Sept. 1 at 8:45. There will be no service or Sunday school next Sunday, August 25.

German service Sept. 8 at 10:00 A. M.

MISSIONARY MEETINGS.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist church met in the home of Mrs. Alfred Schweers in their regular monthly program which was given by Mesdames Fly, Horgor and Miss Bertha Newton. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Schweers served refreshments in her usual hospitable way. During the months of July and August only two meetings a month have been held, the business and program meetings.

The study of "Orientals in America" was taken in four days study the first weeks in August. This proved to be one of the most interesting studies ever taken and was well attended at each meeting.

The next business meeting will be at the church on the 2nd of September.

QUIHI NOTES.

Is anything too hard for the Lord? Gen. 18: 14.

A dramatic incident in the life of Abraham. He sees three mysterious visitors approaching. He offers hospitality. It's accepted. He becomes a busy host and discharges his pleasant duties with remarkable speed. Not a word of introduction. No explanation no surprise, no question. The host knows his guests, and he fully realized the honor of the visit and the intercourse, so reminding as a forecast to the intercourse of the risen Savior with His disciples after Easter. What's the object of the occasion? A final announcement of the arrival of that promised son, an event more miraculous now than ever before. Sarah in the tent, perhaps eavesdropping, listens with bewilderment, derision and the snicker of incredulity. She did not measure up to a "mother of all believers". The Lord resents her attitude and cuts off her denial and argument with the question, Is anything too hard for the Lord? What was her answer then, what was her answer a few months later? What is our answer when the same Lord challenges our faith in situations where a similar smile of doubt distorts our face and cuts our soul? Not the derision of the infidel is surprising, who wants to "see" things before he "believes", but the doubt of those who confess Him as the "Almighty". Christ puts down the true principle of faith: "Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed." (John 20, 29.)

Our last Luther League program again was well attended. Many came a great distance and go home with new thoughts and a new joy in their heart. The regular numbers were very pleasing and the "substitutes" as well as the volunteers offered fine variety. Little Miss Mary Ann Boehle followed in the tracks of her cousin, Helen, and gave us a fine sample of her young voice of pretty soprano, accompanied on the organ by Miss Helen Grell, another novice in that line. The little Misses Effie May and Darlene Balzen ventured out with "Beautiful Texas", and they sang with the courage of veterans. Who's next? To single out other numbers with a word of credit and appreciation would make a long list. They do not expect it. Suffice it to say that there is steady improvement visible all around and the big audiences are appreciative, though little is said within hearing, but we take it from the fact that they show up in great numbers. And here are the assignments for the next program evening: Recitations, Clarence Bohlen, Emil Mumme; select readings, Marvin Grell, Mrs. Walter Grell; vocal selections, Miss Lucille Bohlen, Oscar Grell; instrumental number, Mrs. Hy. Schuehle. The others, choir, male chorus, etc., are getting busy without special reminder, including the lecturer, where modesty forbids to say more.

We have just about arrived at the last chapter of our catechetical instruction and the day of confirmation is in sight. "Teaching them to observe all things whatever I have commanded you", was the aim. It's part of the baptismal vow given by parents and sponsors. The little flock of ten has been at it with good courage and application, working systematically and carefully in prayerful attitude and cheerful outlook. September the 8th will be confirmation day. Details later.

Announcements for August the 25th: German service at New Fountain 10 A. M., Sunday school and Junior Bible class at 9: evening service at 8 P. M. "More love to Thee, O Christ!"

VISIT THE COAST.

Mr. Wm. Ziegenbalg and family and Mr. Ziegenbalg's father, Ernest Ziegenbalg of Lytle, motored down to the coast last week and spent the week-end at Riviera Beach where they had a most enjoyable time.

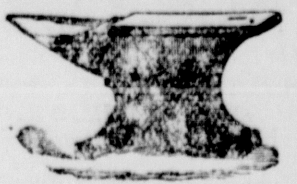

Returning Monday by way of Three Rivers they visited the glass factory at that place and were shown through the plant where four machines were busily turning out four different forms of glassware, beer bottles, fruit jars, etc. Each machine had a capacity of forty articles per minute and the total output was 140 articles per minute. The plant works three eight hour shifts and never stops day or night.

Mr. Ziegenbalg was disappointed in the crops he saw on the trip and says army worms have done considerable damage.

BOOSTERS TO HAVE DANCE.

The Medina County Boosters Club is sponsoring Jimmie Klein and his 11-piece orchestra in a grand dance, to be held Saturday night, August 24, in the Hondo Fair Grounds Hall. Dancing will be during the hours from 9:30 P. M. to 1:30 A. M. In addition to the tune-fun dance melodies, the orchestra will feature Margaret Klein, accordionist, who will play and sing for the entertainment of the dancers and the on-lookers. The dance will be held, rain or shine.

It is one of those entertainments the Boosters boast about.

MANAGING EDITOR.

The railroad crossing warning to "stop, look and listen" should apply with force to any proposed change in our fundamental law. For instance, a friend informs the M. E. that he will vote for the old age pension amendment because he is old enough to share in its benefits. That friend owes the money he borrowed to pay his 1934 taxes, millions of dollars in taxes are delinquent because thousands of taxpayers were not so situated as to be able to borrow, and the state is several million dollars behind in payment of its obligations. In the face of such a situation, it is proposed to double or possibly treble the state's tax demands by adding to them the burden of the pension payment. In face of such a situation, is it not better for the aged, rather than expecting help from the state, to consider first the possibility of the state's absorbing their life's savings through increased taxation and leaving them dependent in their old age upon the doubtful charity of a bunch of politicians?

The hammer-swinger of this column again reiterates his purpose to vote against all the proposed amendments save one in the election Saturday. In doing this, he shall not be surprised at being on the losing side all around. Indifference on the part of all save those who have a selfish purpose to serve may enable that small active element to put over all six of the amendments that we oppose. Amendments have been adopted with less than ten per cent of the voters favoring them. On the other hand, the prohibition repeal amendment is the only one receiving any serious opposition and seems the one most likely to be defeated. The prohibition forces seem anxious to hold fast to the shadow of what they call prohibition and are fighting with their old time vigor. The brewers seem to think the present status leaves them with nothing more to desire—they can't manufacture beer fast enough to supply the demand. And judging from the indifference of the distillers, they, too, are satisfied with things as they are. With the one element content with the law and the other satisfied with its sales, it will not be surprising that the voters leave things as they are by indifferently permitting the amendment to be defeated. When the crusading prohibitionists, the brewers, the distillers and the bootleggers make common cause, albeit for different reasons, for the common purpose of retaining a situation satisfactory to all four the odds are likely to be too great against the rest of us. If you want repeal to carry bestir yourself and vote for that amendment.

STAND ON YOUR OWN LEGS.

A federal court has declared that the government's processing tax—backbone of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration Act—is illegal. The case will next go to the Supreme Court which, according to eminent legal authorities, is almost certain to uphold the decision of the lower tribunal.

If that happens, it will mean that the present program of government farm relief has virtually collapsed. And that illustrates something that every citizen would do well to think about—that governmental efforts to aid any class or group, no matter how well intentioned, are inevitably transitory and unstable.

For many years leading farm spokesmen have said that, in the long view, the farmer's salvation will depend upon his efforts, his own work, his own abilities. The bulk of thinking farmers share that view. They know that self-help is the only kind of help that can produce permanent results. And they are planning and working accordingly.

Better and more scientific farming, plus improved buying and selling methods made possible by agricultural cooperatives, are the great influences behind farm progress.—Industrial News Review.

All of which is true as gospel as far as it goes. Government aid of the present socialistic-paternalistic kind is destined, sooner or later, to prove more harmful than helpful.

At the same time, "self-help" must prove of no avail so long as the farmer is left the victim of robbing special privilege.

"Self-help" will win when the farmer is given a free market for his produce; when he is given a national credit currency that will relieve him of extortionate interest rates and unbearable taxation; when competitive transportation rates move his goods to and fro at reasonable freight costs.

Biry route was postponed for time being until further investigations could be made. The scholastic apportionment was prorated to the several districts.

As the old school year fades away and the new year begins to dawn upon us, may we extend a word of gratitude to the County Board members for their service to our schools, which they have executed with all sincerity and faithfulness.

The Superintendents' annual conference which took place at A. & M. College July 29-August 2 was of much benefit. Many school problems were discussed and cleared.

The Conference held at San Antonio August 13 for the benefit of trustee boards also proved to be one of considerable help, the subjects of discussion were transportation, classification, consolidation, and new regulations. One of the new regulations that will possibly interest most of our rural people is that no transportation aid will be granted this year unless a district has fifty cents of local maintenance. It is pleasing to know that several of our local boards were present.

Progress from a yard thickly set with black brush to one which is showing excellent shrub and tree arrangement in much less time than a year has been made by Mrs. J. T. Preston, yard improvement demonstrator for the Dilley home demonstration club, according to Mary Neff, Frio county home demonstration agent. In the fall of 1934, Mrs. Preston started her work of clearing the yard preparing for planting. She now has her yard planned according to a well made plan with one screen planting which will hide the view of barns, 22 trees consisting of elms, ash, crepe myrtle, mock oranges, persimmons, figs and apricots. Also, in interesting groups around the house and in corners of the yard, Mrs. Preston has 12 native shrubs well started which she transplanted from pastures consisting of seneca, mountain laurel, nandina and a native fern. She was far sighted in setting these shrubs out in that she allowed space for growth of the shrubs as they will not crowd too much what they have reached maturity. In addition, the Prestons have planned shelter from the sun for their chickens by planting seven trees in the chicken yards, consisting of elms, mulberries and hackberries.

James W. Potts, Stonewall county agricultural agent and former 4-H club boy, has been awarded a $1000 fellowship for nine months' study in the U. S. Department of Agriculture offered by the Payne Fund of New York City, according to O. B. Martin, Extension director. Potts was raised on a farm in Lubbock county and was graduated from Lubbock High School in 1929. In 1933 he received a B. S. degree from Texas Technological College, majoring in agronomy. Potts started 4H club work in 1921 with a pig that won third place at the county fair. With premium money won on a registered gilt in 1922 he bought a Jersey calf and started a dairy herd which practically paid his way through college. He also carried demonstrations in pure line grain sorghum seed production, beef cattle and cotton. Total profits for one three-year period were $2,489.55 or an average of $829.85 per year.

Mrs. R. S. Vaughn of Hondo and Miss Alberta Ebeling of Round Mountain, Texas, were the names called Tuesday night to receive the two $100.00 bank accounts at the Colonial Theatre's bank night event. ## PREVENTING CHIGGER BITES IS BETTER THAN CURING THEM.

When chiggers grow older they reform, mend their ways, and cease to be the seasonal source of annoyance and inconvenience to many victims which was characteristic of the flaming youth. A chigger, F. C. Bishop of the United States Department of Agriculture explains, is the first or larval stage of a large red velvet mite which is entirely harmless when mature. Contrary to the popular impression chiggers do not burrow into the skin and require no extraction for relief. The chigger, minute in size though it is, is capable of injecting a considerable quantity of poisonous material into its host, and it is this poison that causes all the discomfort, the persistent itching that follows chigger bites.

Destroying the chiggers does not seem possible, the Bureau of Entomology says, in areas which are covered with woods and undergrowth, but preliminary studies by the bureau indicate they can be checked in the vicinity of homes and camps by clearing away the underbrush, vines, and weeds from such areas, keeping the grass cut close, and by following these measures with applications of flowers of sulphur or very fine dusting sulphur. It appears, the bureau says, that from 5 to 10 pounds of sulphur scattered over an ordinary city lot will give a high degree of control, sometimes from a single treatment, but it is usually best to repeat the application two or three times at intervals of one to two weeks. This is especially necessary when the applications are followed by rain.

Humans are by no means the only victims of the chigger. Normally they feed upon small wild animals, including snakes and lizards and they may attack birds. They are a pest of considerable importance to poultry, and are especially troublesome on late hatched chicks and turkeys. Heavily infested chicks soon become droopy and drowsy, later may show symptoms of paralysis, and quite frequently die from the attack within a few days. Early hatching usually prevents losses of poultry. Late hatches should be kept out of high grass and brush when chiggers are prevalent. The use of sulphur as described gives some protection, but usually if the chicks are brooded by a hen and allowed free ranges they will become infested. On chickens the chiggers are inclined to attach in dense masses on the parts of the body less covered by down or feathers, and a light dusting with sulphur will give some relief.

No method has been found for giving an entirely satisfactory protection to people. When going into places where chiggers abound, the bureau advises that it is well to wear high-top shoes over the trousers, or leather leggings. Dusting the body and underwear with flowers of sulphur will give a high degree of protection from attack.

AIR-CONDITIONING BRINGS WASPS ALIVE FROM EGYPT.

Traveling over the fastest air and water routes, three lots of promising little wasps from Egypt recently reached the United States. They are now building up an army soon to be turned loose against the pink bollworm in the few North American cotton fields invaded by this pest. The pink boll worm—the most destructive cotton pest in nearly all the important cotton-growing countries of the world—has not yet reached the main Cotton Belt here. Every effort is being made to keep it from doing so.

"A few of these wasps," says C. P. Clausen, in charge of insect parasite introduction, "were obtained with the assistance of the Egyptian Ministry of Agriculture and increased by entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture on the other side of the world. Then they were shipped to the Department's insectary at Presidio, Texas, making the trip from Cairo in about 2 weeks."

One of the small aliens—Microbracon kirkpatricki—has long been a natural enemy of pink bollworms in East Africa. It was successfully colonized in Egypt several years ago, but efforts to import it into North America failed. The delicate little insect could not stand the long, hard journey. Air express and fast ocean liners, with modern refrigeration facilities, however, have removed the hazards of travel for Microbracon. From the Egyptian parents that came safely over the great stretch of land and sea a large number of American-born wasps are now ready in the Presidio insectary for release in cotton fields.

The other two insect newcomers—Exeristes roborator and Elasmus—are native parasites of the pink bollworm in Egypt. Some time ago Exeristes was brought into the United States from Europe to prey on the European corn borer. When liberated against the pink bollworm in Texas, however, this wasp seemed unable to adapt itself to conditions there. Perhaps, entomologists say, the strain from the banks of the Nile will do better.

W. C. Pierce, a feed crop demonstrator of Navarro county, reports that stock beet have been a life-saver to his stock of hogs during the winter of 1934-35. As a result of drought, his corn and other feed crops were almost an entire failure and had it not been for a crop of stock beet that were planted early in the spring of 1934 and harvested in November, he would have had to go out of the hog business. Mr. Pierce produces enough hogs each year to supply meat and lard for himself and three families who reside on his two farms. He advised that since the first of March his brood sows and pigs have been kept on pasture and stock beet supplemented with a little cotton seed meal and bran fed in stop once daily.

ALONG GARDEN WALKS.

During the past weeks, wife and I have been storing away our orchard and garden harvest for the winter months. We have sweet potatoes and Mr. Spuds. Tomatoes and other vegetables are plentiful and we are pickling and canning freely. Our pots, jars and bottles will be well filled with sweet-sour pickles, relishes and juices of all kinds. Barns are undergoing repairs preparatory to filling with Indian corn and the smoke house with lard and bacon. Plenty of chickens on the poultry yard and fine milch cows down in the pasture. There is a living in this cock-eyed world for every man and it is only necessary to pay a price in order to acquire it. "By the sweat of your brow you shall eat bread." We do not need soldier bonuses, government handouts and old age pensions. We only need to work. The seasons will come and go, the flowers bloom and die and the golden harvest gathered in.

I have on my desk this morning two pictorial catalogues. One from a bulb grower and exporter in Holland and another from a seed merchant in Italy. The Dutch farmer in Holland wants to sell me bulbs, according to his argument that cannot be successfully grown in our soil and climate. The Italian merchant offers American grown tomato seed cheaper than they can be grown on our farms. These Dutchmen and Italians use their heads. The Dutch farmers search the world for a market and find it and the Italian merchants send trained buyers over here to contract for the entire seed by-products of American canneries and packing plants. They both prosper. Tomato seed of all varieties are saved, packed in heavy sacks and transported to Naples, Italy, and from there shipped back to our distributors and they pass them on to us in pretty packages. Business works in a cunning way. Our flowers and vegetables are now offering fine seed, and we can do no better than save the best for next year's planting. Save your own seed.

La Place, that old plantation in Louisiana, upholds the colorful traditions of by-gone days. It is located on the east bank of the Mississippi and a few miles North of New Orleans. Its broad acres extend for miles each way. The big white house and stately trees overlook the river and surrounding country. The cabins are in the cotton. Commensary, gin and church are conveniently located and the mecca for the farm people. The barns are bursting with feed and a little village within itself. The dove cote with its inmates making love, the woodbine growing around the tree and the winding trail leading through the orchard, the meadow and on to the setting sun adds grandeur to the colorful surroundings. On this farm are fine mules, cattle, poultry, and all the rest. The soil that was put in cultivation by slave labor during the days of LaFayette is fertile and produce abundantly everything good to eat. Those plantation children have all the comforts of life.

On the front piazza of the big white house my hostess and I were met by a French-creole maiden 18 years of age. She extended to us a cup of piping hot creole coffee. The coffee pot was steaming, the cream and sugar bowl immaculately clean, the waiter artistic and spoons solid gold of colonial pattern. After sipping, we returned the cups to the young lady dressed in white. While riding over the plantation I noted the behavior of the people. The old master and his lady were farmers and good ones. They knew how to plough corn and rake hay; take advantage of boll weevils and weather. They knew the best time to plant zinnies and potatoes. They knew how the mules should be managed and the pigs fed. La Place prospered.

La Place plantation represents a great investment and for hundreds of years has been prosperous. The managers have always been trained farmers; men and women who lived close to the soil and were interested in their job. There is a science in growing flowers and cultivating cane. It cannot be done in a haphazard way. Negroes on La Place had their training. They know how to dig potatoes, butcher hogs and work in the flower garden. That old plantation master traced his ancestors back to the early days of French history and found them to be men with the hoe. Great plantations come and go but the La Place goes on forever. Not only is that argument true with that plantation but likewise so with the little farm by the side of the road. Success in farming depends upon the individual. Not luck.

CRY OF THE MODERN SLAVE.

The last few years has seen humanity wear yokes that were too great for them to bear: their children cry for bread. A theme to me for bitter tears. Is there no one to care or raise the Cross of Christ before the world and bid His children rest from ceaseless toil; when every granary in the land is full and running over from the fertile soil!

If we are God's, then who shall have the right to say, "Take this; on this I'll turn the key, for great must be MY wealth, my hoarded store, and you and you, EAT LESS, for now, you see, you are my chosen slave forevermore."

Ah God, it is not right, when coffers bulge with gold that I, your child, should crawl and beg for sustenance within my door.

What Vocation Shall My Boy Choose?

By Morris Lawrence,
Director, School of Chemistry,

Schools.

We live in a changing world. Opportunities for success in the future will differ from those in the past. A young man's wise choice of his life work may do much to determine success or failure. How shall he choose?

A Career in Chemistry

PRIOR to the World War, European chemists were world leaders in the profession. In the manufacture of a vast number of synthetic products and in the production of various metals and alloys, the world acknowledged the supremacy of the European chemist.

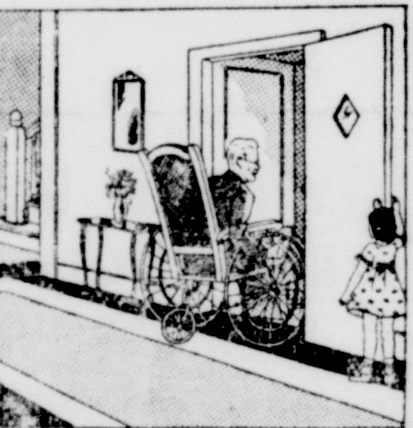

With the outbreak of the War, American chemists were faced with the necessity of producing a great number of products that had hitherto been imported. The manner in which they met the situation has relieved us of the necessity of ever again depending upon Europe for most of these products. American chemists proved themselves equal to those of any other nation. Their success opened wide the door for ambitious young Americans with a bent toward the test tube and the laboratory.

Today three-fourths of all our manufacturing operations are dependent upon the skill and research of the chemist. The chemist has created a modern world of wonders far beyond the wildest imaginings of the ancient alchemists, but the future holds possibilities of equally amazing triumphs. Production of new power fuels, the manufacture of new synthetic products, the development of new by-products from the waste piles of industry, all await the successful conclusion of the chemist's research.

Far into the future chemistry should continue to offer a career of great promise to young men in this country. Technical training must, of course, be acquired; either by study at a university or technical school or by study in spare time while working on the job. For those who choose the latter course, the obvious procedure is to seek a beginner's position in a plant manufacturing chemicals, paints and varnishes, or any of the other products in which chemistry plays an important part. Both courses have produced outstanding leaders in the profession.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

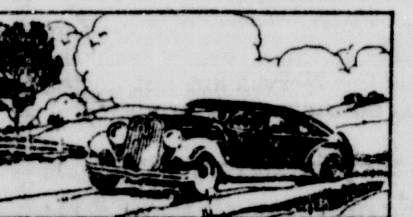

HERE is some especially cheering news for families that include an aged person, a convalescent or one afflicted in such a way that stair-climbing is painful or dangerous. Residence elevators, once found only in millionaires' mansions, are now being made by a leading manufacturer at a cost no greater than that of a good automobile. The installation is said to be a simple matter, requiring surprisingly few changes in the home. Through the Home Owners' Loan Association it is possible to have the cost of the installation financed.

Have you ever noticed the tiny, low piles that give that rich sheen and soft feel to the mohair velvet upholstery on your furniture or in your car? Proving that little things can add up to amazing totals, it has been estimated that in a single automobile, an average-size sedan, more than 92 miles of thread are represented by the pile fibres. In textile phraseology, these piles supply the "third dimension," giving mohair velvet fabrics their beauty and durability.

A SOLUTION of washing soda and water applied with a stiff brush will remove corrosion from storage battery terminals. Coat terminals with vaseline to prevent further corrosion.

If the rubber weatherstrips around the windshield are enclosed in T-slots it is often a difficult job to remove the old strips in order to replace them with new ones. To make a difficult job an easier one, play a small flame from a soldering torch over the old strips. The softened rubber can easily be dug out with a screwdriver.

RAIN THAT ONCE RAN AWAY NOW CREEPS OFF TERRACES.

Terracing and contour tillage as recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture has proved its value in the Middle West and Southwest, as rains have come after months—and in some cases, years—of drought. Runoff has been retarded. More moisture has been retained. In general, the soil is in better condition than for years.

Letters from the once dry States tell the story. A farmer in Brown County, Kans., writes: "You should see those terraces I built last year. Rain that once ran away, now creeps off. A lot of it doesn't get away at all, but goes right down into the sub-soil."

Contour listing on terraced land on the Limestone Creek project of the Soil Conservation Service in Jewell County, Kans., was damaged little by the heavy rains in May. "Adjoining fields, not so handled, not only lost much soil, but in many cases the corn will have to be replanted," says F. L. Duley, director of the project. "Heavy rains—one of 3 inches in 30 minutes—caused a few breaks in terraces, but these indicated faulty construction which will be remedied in the future."

Moisture conservation measures on the wind erosion project at Dalhart in the Texas Panhandle likewise proved their value in heavy rains. According to a report by H. H. Finnell, director of the project, actual tests show rainfall soaked in twice as deep on contoured land as it did on fields of the same soil type and topography where no moisture conservation measures were used.

"Rains in the drought area have provided the first seasonal opportunity in several years for real control of wind erosion," says H. H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service. "Lack of moisture has prevented farmers from establishing a protective cover crop to anchor the soil. Moisture is now available. Farmers can take full advantage of the chance to start a permanent system of soil protection which will make a recurrence of the recent dust storms almost impossible."

If the rows in her garden were laid end to end and 334 more feet were planted, Hilda Thielman, second year club member of the Lamar Girls' Home Demonstration Club in Fort Bend county, would have to hoe one mile of garden. She has reported 366 feet of dewberries, 488 feet of tomatoes, 1026 feet of leafy vegetables, 3478 feet of other vegetables, and 488 feet of peanuts, making a total of 4846 feet. To date she has gathered 44 pounds of fresh vegetables and 21 gallons of berries for use at home.

BILIOUS

Condition Needs Double
Action Treatment

Stimulation of liver bile flow is not enough for complete relief, but combined with intestinal stimulation that relieves temporary constipation, quick, soothing results are certain. Herbine, a combination of herbs, combines BOTH actions and so those dizzy headaches, indigestions, gas, rundown feelings get relieved when both liver and bowels return to normal action. Get your bottle of Herbine from druggists.

Do they torture you by day?
Keep you awake at night?

What is it that keeps hospitals open and doctors
busy? NERVES.

What is it that makes your face wrinkled and
makes you feel old? NERVES.

Nine times out of ten it's NERVES that make you
restless, worried, haggard.

Do they make you Cranky,
Blue--give you Nervous Indigestion, Nervous Headache?

When nerves are over-taxed, you worry over trifles, find it hard to concentrate, can't sit still.
Nerve Strain brings on Headache.

Nervous people often suffer from Indigestion.
There may be absolutely nothing wrong with the organs of digestion, but the Nerves are not on the job to make the organs do their work properly.

Do they interfere with your
work; ruin your pleasure; drive
away your friends?

You're cheating yourself and the man who pays you if you work when your NERVES are not normal.

You can't have a good time when you are nervous.

70 LOADS CORN REACHED HERE
MONDAY.

Miss Lola Spivey, who handles the big scales at the Adams Co. sheller
and elevator, reports weighing 70
loads of corn Monday. At 7:30 Tuesday morning, after running all night,
part time on corn stored in the building, there were ten truck-loads on the
yards, awaiting the unloading racks;
where the trucks are tilted and four
to six men feed the elevator lifts.
Miss Spivey said a total of 250 loads
had reached the sheller; her own corn was the first load shelled. Miss Lola is some farmer herself and has done
the weighing for the elevator for several years. About fifty per cent of the loads are on mule and horse wagons, the other half trucks. The loads range from 25 to 50 bushels per load.
The price so far laid has been 55
cents the bushel.

ATTEND NATIONAL GUARD REVIEW.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Jungman attended the review of the 36th Division of the Texas National Guard at Camp Hulien, near Palacios, Friday of last week. They witnessed the inspiring scene of 7,000 Guardsmen pass in review before their commander, Major-General John A. Hulien, and at the same time bid him farewell as their commander as he will retire on account of age on September 9th. This will, therefore, be his last general review of the organization which he has worked for forty-six years to build up and many of whom were with him in France where he served in the Division in the World War. He will be succeeded by Major-General Lains.

Arthur Jungman, also a World War veteran, is a First Lieutenant in the Division and Mr. and Mrs. Jungman were guests of their son while at the encampment.

They report a most enjoyable visit with the soldiers despite the extreme heat, and returned home by way of Houston where they visited their other son, J. Frank Jungman, and family.

WISHING.

Not only when some New Year's sounding steps upon my threshold must approach, but I am wishing a resolve through coming years may find me stronger as each day I try to meet life's test with each recurring dawn through consciousness of gathered strength be brave, through shadowed paths help some one find the gleam that halting footsteps often search and crave, lost, through maze from paths the Master trod, yet not learned that child-like trust in God.

HONDO BOY TO TAKE BRIDE.

The following announcement will be of interest to a wide circle of friends:

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Silliman, 2630 Wheeling St., today announced the engagement of their daughter, Hazel Agnes, to V. H. Harwood Blocker, son of Mrs. V. H. Blocker of Hondo, Texas, and the late Judge Blocker.

The wedding date is tentative.

The ceremony will take place in the home of Miss Silliman's brother, E. R. Silliman, Jr., and Mrs. Silliman, the former Eleanor Hall of El Paso, in San Salvador, Central America.

Mr. Silliman is foreign executive representative for Pan-American Airways in San Salvador.

Mr. Blocker, brother of American Consul William P. Blocker, at Juarez, will meet his bride-elect in San Salvador. He is vice consul to Belize, British Honduras, where he temporarily is assigned.

Miss Silliman, popular in El Paso social groups, was born in San Angelo, Texas, and came to El Paso as a child with her family. She was graduated from the El Paso School for Girls, now Radford School for Girls.

Mr. Blocker recently left El Paso for Belize after visiting Mr. and Mrs. William P. Blocker here. He has been stationed formerly in Lima, Peru; Mangemillo, Mex.; Asuncion, Paraguay, and Casablanca, Morocco, Africa, where he was stationed before being ordered to Belize.

Before Mr. Blocker left for British Honduras, he and his fiancée were guests of Mrs. V. H. Blocker in Hondo. Mrs. Blocker, her son, and his fiancée visited in San Antonio and were guests of Gov. and Mrs. James Alfred, in the Governor's mansion in Austin, during their stay in East Texas. Mrs. Alfred and V. H. and William P. Blocker are cousins.

Announcement of the engagement follows almost immediately the announcement that Consul and Mrs. William P. Blocker will leave El Paso soon for Mr. Blocker's new station in Cuba.—El Paso Paper.

The amateur hour idea comes from the major entertainment offered over the radio. The film story concerns three youngsters, pretty and talented, who step from the amateur microphone into the big time under the guidance of another amateur who knows the ropes. It is chock full of song and comedy, romance and behind-the-microphone episodes. The cast is made up of great favorites. George Raft, as the amateur band leader who climbs radio's peak in a new type of role; Frances Langford, star of radio, who makes her screen debut; Alice Faye, Rudy Vallee's leading lady in a screen role suited to her talents; Patsy Kelly, noted screen comedienne with the biggest fun-making opportunity of her grand career. ## What Vocation Shall My Boy Choose?

By J. F. Witkowski,

Principal, School of the Radio,
International Correspondence
Schools, Associate Member,
Institute of Radio Engineers.

We live in a changing world. Opportunities for success in the future will differ from those in the past. A young man's wise choice of his life work may do much to determine success or failure. How shall he choose?

The Radio Engineer

RADIO engineering embraces not only the broadcasting of programs and the transmission of messages, but many applications of radio science which are still largely unfamiliar to all but the expert.

The possibilities of television are rapidly becoming better understood and the day when a television set can be installed in the home seems to be not far distant. Radio beacons are guiding the aviator by night. Research is turning to the radio tube to provide constant indication of a plane's altitude above the earth and of its approach to a mountain side or another plane. The tube controls the speed and security of express trains, is finding its way into the textile industry, the automobile industry and into mining where it is used to indicate the location of mineral deposits.

Today no one can foresee how far the development of radio will proceed or what new directions it may take. It seems certain, however, that the developments of the future will be no less important than those of the past. It seems equally certain that as the future of radio unfolds it will offer the technically trained young man a field of never failing interest, and opportunities for achievement which will be limited only by his own ability.

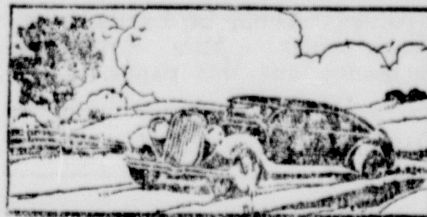

Two courses are open to the young man who chooses radio engineering as a career. He can acquire his technical training by attending an engineering school at one of the universities, and then proceed to its application. If this is impractical, he can seek a beginner's position in some branch of the radio industry and acquire his technical knowledge along with his practical experience, by study in spare time. Whichever course is chosen, hard and persevering study will be required, for the technical problems involved are so complex that real success can come only to the thoroughly trained man.

A N easy way to clean spark plugs is to spray them thoroughly with carbon tetrachloride. A few minutes after spraying, the carbon will be loosened and can easily be scraped off. Then blow the spark plugs out with compressed air. A hand fire extinguisher is useful for spraying the liquid, but any kind of spray gun can be used. Carbon tetrachloride is inexpensive and can be bought at most drug stores.

Leaks in the gasoline tank can be stopped with shellac. Remove the tank, dry it out, then pour in shellac. Swish the shellac over all the surfaces and into all the corners. Drain off the shellac and let the tank dry before re-filling.

W. G. Keilers, Refugio, bought 155 Silver Lace Anconas in February, built a brooder house with stoves at a cost of $2 and raised 1,500 chicks to frying size. The brooder house including the floor was made from scrap tin. A trench big enough to hold two bracket lamps for heat was dug under the floor. The floor was then covered with two inches of sand which helped hold the heat. Midway of the house, between the back and the door, Keilers hung a pair of old wool trousers to help retain the heat in the back part. The two lamps were kept burning 24 hours a day at a cost of a few cents a week.

ANVIL SPARKS.

In short, freedom to pursue happiness in his own way, unhampered by the unholy schemes of special privilege on the one hand or governmental regimentation on the other is what the farmer must have to enable his "self-help" to function successfully.

"SOCIALISM BREAKS DOWN CHARACTER".

In a recent address at the University of Georgia, P. S. Arkwright, President of the Georgia Power Company, said: "Idealistically, the theory of socialism says that all should strive for the common good, not for individual gain. That is the idea, but in practice it works out just the other way. It breaks down character, instead of elevating it, because it destroys reliance upon self. The young American colonies would never have conquered the wilderness, if they and their leaders had been dominated by the schools of thought which now hold sway."

The examples of European countries which have adopted socialism and similar doctrines point to the danger of listening to those who would change our time-tested governmental philosophy only to adopt alien theories. Under socialism, communism, facism and the rest the individual is ruthlessly subjugated—he is simply an instrument of the state, and not a free agent. His rights and liberties are ruthlessly stepped upon—all ambition, initiative and spirit are squeezed out of him by the boot-heel of dictatorship. America, with its inspiring heritage of freedom, certainly does not want that to happen here.—Industrial News Review.

OUT OF STRUGGLE AND HARSHIP.

"Out of the struggle and hardship that has besieged the cooperative movement in many states throughout the country during the last few years, will develop a new group of friends and supporters of farmers' organizations," says the Dairyman's

Entrance prizes went to Rev. Zuber, Margaret Ann Knopp, Hilmar Koch, Mrs. John Nester, Mr. Tschirhart, John Zinsmeyer and Joe Koch.

Ice cream and muffins were served by the hostesses.

D'HANIS PIRATES DEFEAT KNIPPA FOR FIRST PLACE.

D'Hanis, Texas, Aug. 20.—By defeating Knippa here Sunday by a score of 8 to 2, the D'Hanis Pirates cinched first place in the Highway 90 League race. Next Sunday Knippa and Sabinal meet at Sabinal to determine who shall enter the play-off at D'Hanis, Sept. 1.

Lefty Hunt, usually effective against the Pirates, was hit rather freely and was the victim of poor support. Hunt stayed on the job until the sixth when with one gone, Jim Finger climaxed the hard hitting by leaning against a fast one and sending it out into the tall cane in left center, losing the ball and getting a home run on the drive. Nester pitched his usual steady game and was never in trouble.

Ed Finger in left field handled six putouts cleanly and the Pirate defense was airtight throughout the game. A large crowd witnessed the game.

League News of New York.

"The chaos of depression gave rise to the belief that governmental control could solve the problems of farmers. New leaders leaped into prominence over night. They gained followings, sometimes large, because they promised much, and because thousands who had been crushed by the weight of depression suffering were still ready to follow any new flag that came along.

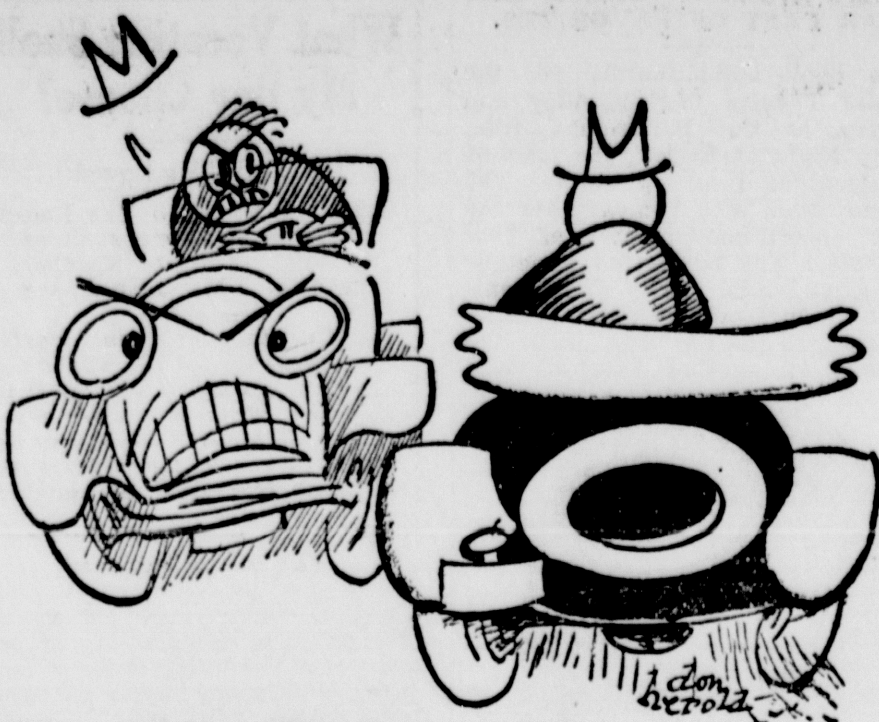

"Out of all this came new laws, new boards and commissions set up by government to rule the business of the farmer. These boards and commissions were manned in many instances by men conspicuous for their lack of knowledge of the problems they were to grapple with—Men who had spent a lifetime guiding the cooperative movement were ignored. Men who knew the ins and outs of marketing problems were not consulted—

"Of late there has been evidence of changed views—Some of the men who set out to control by mandate of law have learned that cooperatives really have something to offer. They are finding that more can be done through cooperative effort than will ever be possible by law."

You can take a horse to water but you can't make him drink—and you can pass all the laws you like but they won't necessarily work. Economic law still is superior to legislative law. If government has learned that in the case of the farmer agriculture will have a better chance to bring prosperity out of depression.—Industrial News Review.

By doing extra pasture improvement work such as mowing weeds, cleaning out brush and sowing permanent pasture seed on 15 acres, J. L. Hess, Jr., 4-H club boy from Old Union community in Titus county, figures that he increased the grazing capacity of his pasture enough to give pasturage for five cows. He estimates that this additional pasturage is worth $60 to him for the past year.

Profit is being taken out of business by putting the Government in business in competition with those who pay the taxes to operate the Government. Regulation by the Government is being rapidly expanded into competition by the Government.—Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Better Breakfasts

NOBODY minds getting up on a fine Spring morning—nobody but those of us who have been out late the fine Spring night before. But since we have a way of staying out these fine Spring nights, why not use a little culinary persuasion? Here is a breakfast that smells so good in the making that only a doddard-head could lie abed.

And even a doddardhead could remain inert only until the coffee began to percolate. If it is vacuum-packed coffee, it smells like a million dollars because the flavor is fresh and the result, though inexpensive, is priceless, indeed.

The relief office here as well as the main office at Hondo were closed last Thursday we are informed.

Mrs. A. A. Christilles of San Antonio is spending several days with her mother, Mrs. Peter Eihn.

Most farmers are about finished with their feed crops and corn gathering is in full blast. Most everyone that wants work can get it. Hegart and maize are the largest crops in history and the corn will also make a good yield.

Interest is lacking in the election to be held Saturday, the 24th of August. As Chairman of the Repeal Forces in Medina County we urge all to turn out and express their will. If a large number of voters stay at home and allow a small minority to control their destinies they will have no cause to complain if it turns out against their interests. So, again, we urge all to turn out and vote.

The ground is getting dry and a good rain now would help fall crops which are beginning to suffer.

The following delightful program was rendered:

Dances by Sis Merritt's pupils as follows: Line of tap, by Misses Willie Jean and Alma Nester, Laura Lee Leinweber, Susie Muennink, Mary Ann Noonan and Jean Warden; petite ballet, by Julia Mazelle Crow; high hat tap, by Fay Jean Bedell; buck tap, by Susie Muennink; and solo ballet, by Laura Lee Leinweber.

Miss Evelyn Barnes sang a solo, "A Sun Bonnet Blue", with Miss Mary Ruth Wilson accompanying on the piano. Miss Barnes and Miss Wilson then sang in duet, "When A Gypsy Makes His Violin Cry".

The principal address for the occasion was given by Mrs. Stella Vodie of San Antonio, past worthy Grand Matron, who gave the highlights of the founder's life in a very pleasing manner. Other brief addresses were given by Mrs. Anne Canze, District Deputy Grand Matron; Mrs. Emma Leinweber, Deputy Grand Matron, and Mr. Earl Starnes, Deputy Grand Master.

During the social hour refreshments of chicken salad, saltines, pickles, cake and spiced tea were served.

The following were the committees who planned and successfully conducted the party: program, Mrs. Earl Starnes, chairman, and Mrs. E. J. Leinweber, decorating, Mrs. Barnitz Carle, chairman, and Mesdames Marvin Schweers and Nookie Bende; refreshments, Mrs. Garland Martin, chairman, and Mesdames R. W. Speece, V. P. King, Henry Windrow and Earl Cureton.

RELIEF SET-UP CHANGED.

A change in relief affairs was made last week, going into effect on August 16th, when the local Re-employment and Welfare Administration for Medina County was discontinued. Under a new relief set-up Medina County is now one of eleven counties in this district with main offices at Uvalde.

The local office now consists solely of a Case Worker in Charge and several helpers. They are Miss Mary Ruth Cameron, case worker in charge, her assistants, Mesdames Etta Langford, Barfield and Elmer Rothe; Miss Ida Belle Benson, stenographer, and Mr. Henry Batot, Jr., Commodity Clerk.

All relief affairs for the County will be administered through the Uvalde district office and executed by the above workers.

PRODUCE SHIPMENTS INCREASING.

Broom corn shipment for the past week were seven cars, bringing the total up to 24 cars thus far for the season.

Three cars of maize for the week, making a total for the season of 10 cars, were shipped.

Five cars of hembra have also been shipped this season, two of the cars having gone out during the past week.

Over the same period Hondo freight office has billed out four cars of maize and two of hembra that were shipped from Dunlay.

As we went to press Thursday eight cars of produce, including corn, were being loaded at the tracks and it looked somewhat like old times when we knew what prosperity meant.

HONDO'S FIRST BALE.

F. Lopez, a tenant on Gus Batot's farm, brought in the first bale of cotton of the 1935 season Friday, August 16th. This lacked one day of being a month later than the first bale which came in on July 17th last year and was a month and one day later than the first bale of 1933 which came in on July 15th.

The bale was ginned by Mrs. J. W. Hollaway's gin and up to the time of going to press Thursday five bales had been ginned.

The cotton crop of this section is going to be extremely light this year, due to many adverse circumstances but chiefly boll weevil damage.

PEARSALL BEATS STARS.

Pearsall, Texas, Aug. 19.—The Pearsall Rangers went on a hitting rampage here Sunday afternoon and eked out a 6 to 3 victory over Highway 90 All-Stars.

The Highway 90 All-Stars made seven hits, three runs and two errors. The Rangers scored 10 hits, six runs and one error.

Batteries: Highway 90, Reitzer and Vaughan; Pearsall, Breeden and Olsen.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

CLIFF MADDOX, ADVERTISING MANAGER OF THE BORGER (TEXAS) DAILY HERALD, SAYS:

"In regards to advertising, I am not closed on the subject of newspaper advertising. I recognize other media as necessary for the successful fulfillment of a well-balanced advertising campaign, but for the largest bulk of any advertising copy, either local or national, I would venture to say there is no other media even within shooting distance of newspapers. By this I mean newspapers offer so many distinctive advantages over other media for straight selling copy, it is almost incomparable.

"First, one of the main advantages of using newspaper space today is the news interest which incidentally has never before in history been of such potent interest to the public as a whole as it is today.

"Second, the advantage of reaching the most people through newspapers who are able to buy, ready to buy, and looking for merchandise they are in a receptive mood to be sold on.

"Third, the advantage of reaching a concentrated market. By this I mean an investment of the advertising dollar into a market that affords the greatest possible number of sales prospects for the number of messages delivered and read."

Your advertising message in this paper will be delivered among those from whom you must secure your trade.

BAPTIST NEWS NOTES.

The Baptists are never a spectacular people—to live right before God and men is their plea for a place in the confidence of their neighbors. They are strictly a Biblical people. The Bible and the Bible alone is their religion. Sometimes a few of them have a difficult time practicing their faith. For they are mostly human. The place of prayer in the Christian life was the Pastor's topic on last Sunday morning. To talk humbly with God is at once a privilege and a great blessing. Really, the exercise of prayer is a necessary daily duty. Prayer is the Christian's vital breath; the Christian's native air; his watchword at the gates of death. He enters heaven with prayer. It is personal communion with God. Dear Reader, fail not to pray. Out of courtesy for our Methodist friends, the Baptists call in all their evening services. It is hoped our people shall reap much spiritual benefit from these meetings, and lend their prayerful co-operation. As a people, the Baptists are total abstainers when it comes to intoxicating liquors. Whiskey drinkers do not look well anywhere, least of all in a church. The Baptists have the following definition of a barrel of whiskey: "A barrel of headaches, of heart aches, of woes, a barrel of curses, a barrel of blows; a barrel of tears from a world-weary wife; a barrel of sorrows, a barrel of strife; a barrel of unavailing regret; a barrel of cares, a barrel of debt; a barrel of crime and a barrel of pain; a barrel of hopes all blasted and vain. A barrel of falsehood, a barrel of cries that fall from the maniac's lips as he dies. A barrel of agony, heavy and dull; a barrel of poison—of this quite full. A barrel of liquid that often fires the brain of the man who thinks it inspires. A barrel of poverty, of ruin and blight; a barrel of terrors that grow with the night; a barrel of hunger, a barrel of groans, a barrel of orphans' most pitiful moans. A barrel of serpents that hiss as they pass from the bead of the liquor that glows in the glass." Liquor and religion don't mix. Since Baptists feel called of God to help make the right type of citizens, the right type of men for husbands, the right type of people to strengthen the church of God, Baptists generally may be expected to vote against repeal. The Baptist Pastor and church will give any man or woman a most cordial welcome to come and worship God with us, at any time. Services next Sunday morning.

R. W. MERRILL, Pastor.

A PAGE OF LOCAL HISTORY.

In 1880 where Hondo now stands was a wide open prairie, with a lone ranch house on the slough just south-east of town. The wagon trail from San Antonio to Fort Clark and other points west passed over the site of the present town. The S. P. Railroad had not been built west of San Antonio and all freight to points west was transported by wagon.

Our fellow townsman, Joe L. Haby, then a young man, was engaged in the freighting business. Returning from a trip to Fort Clark, in company with Nic Bende and Joe Marty, all three of whom lived at that time in Castroville, they camped one night at D'Hanis. It rained on them, but they started out any way and reached the Rothe hill just west of Hondo a little before noon in a pouring down rain. The prairie all around them was flooded with water and they did not dare to try to proceed further. A Mexican teamster was stranded with a load of lumber near where the Fair Ground is now located and the water came up over the top of his load of lumber. They helped him and his team out and he spent that afternoon and night drying himself by the fire.

It quit raining about mid-day but they did not attempt to move on until noon the next day. Even then, when crossing the slough just west of town, water came up into the beds of their big eight-mule freight wagons and some of the smaller mules in the teams had to swim.

When they first struck camp on the hill, every thing was so wet they had trouble getting a fire started. They finally found enough dry material in their "grub-box" to kindle a fire in one of their cooking utensils. Once started wood was plentiful on the hill and they managed to dry their clothing, but their meal and bacon, the only food they had, was water-soaked.

That was the time the mill on the Hondo near the present highway bridge across the Hondo was washed away, and they first learned of it when they arrived at the creek on their homeward journey to Castroville.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

The annual MISSION FESTIVAL will be observed at our church on Sunday, September 1. The Rev. H. C. Ziehe of San Antonio has consented to be the speaker of the day. He will occupy the pulpit for the morning service, which will be held in the English language beginning at 10:00 A. M. At the night service beginning at 8:00 o'clock, Rev. Ziehe will deliver a lecture "illustrated" by a fine collection of relics from our mission field in New Guinea. This collection has never been in Hondo before.

We want you to plan to be present at both services and lend your full support to our mission program.

Sunday school and Bible class will meet on Sept. 1 at 8:45. There will be no service or Sunday school next Sunday, August 25.

German service Sept. 8 at 10:00 A. M.

MISSIONARY MEETINGS.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist church met in the home of Mrs. Alfred Schweers in their regular monthly program which was given by Mesdames Fly, Horgor and Miss Bertha Newton. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Schweers served refreshments in her usual hospitable way. During the months of July and August only two meetings a month have been held, the business and program meetings.

The study of "Orientals in America" was taken in four days study the first weeks in August. This proved to be one of the most interesting studies ever taken and was well attended at each meeting.

The next business meeting will be at the church on the 2nd of September.

QUIHI NOTES.

Is anything too hard for the Lord? Gen. 18: 14.

A dramatic incident in the life of Abraham. He sees three mysterious visitors approaching. He offers hospitality. It's accepted. He becomes a busy host and discharges his pleasant duties with remarkable speed. Not a word of introduction. No explanation no surprise, no question. The host knows his guests, and he fully realized the honor of the visit and the intercourse, so reminding as a forecast to the intercourse of the risen Savior with His disciples after Easter. What's the object of the occasion? A final announcement of the arrival of that promised son, an event more miraculous now than ever before. Sarah in the tent, perhaps eavesdropping, listens with bewilderment, derision and the snicker of incredulity. She did not measure up to a "mother of all believers". The Lord resents her attitude and cuts off her denial and argument with the question, Is anything too hard for the Lord? What was her answer then, what was her answer a few months later? What is our answer when the same Lord challenges our faith in situations where a similar smile of doubt distorts our face and cuts our soul? Not the derision of the infidel is surprising, who wants to "see" things before he "believes", but the doubt of those who confess Him as the "Almighty". Christ puts down the true principle of faith: "Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed." (John 20, 29.)

Our last Luther League program again was well attended. Many came a great distance and go home with new thoughts and a new joy in their heart. The regular numbers were very pleasing and the "substitutes" as well as the volunteers offered fine variety. Little Miss Mary Ann Boehle followed in the tracks of her cousin, Helen, and gave us a fine sample of her young voice of pretty soprano, accompanied on the organ by Miss Eleen Grell, another novice in that line. The little Misses Effie May and Darlene Balzen ventured out with "Beautiful Texas", and they sang with the courage of veterans. Who's next? To single out other numbers with a word of credit and appreciation would make a long list. They do not expect it. Suffice it to say that there is steady improvement visible all around and the big audiences are appreciative, though little is said within hearing, but we take it from the fact that they show up in great numbers. And here are the assignments for the next program evening: Recitations, Clarence Bohlén, Emil Mumme; select readings, Marvin Grell, Mrs. Walter Grell; vocal selections, Miss Lucile Bohlén, Oscar Grell; instrumental number, Mrs. Hy. Schuchle. The others, choir, male chorus, etc., are getting busy without special reminder, including the lecturer, where modesty forbids to say more.

We have just about arrived at the last chapter of our catechetical instruction and the day of confirmation is in sight. "Teaching them to observe all things whatever I have commanded you", was the aim. It's part of the baptismal vow given by parents and sponsors. The little flock of ten has been at it with good courage and application, working systematically and carefully in prayerful attitude and cheerful outlook. September the 8th will be confirmation day. Details later.

Announcements for August the 25th: German service at New Fountain 10 A. M., Sunday school and Junior Bible class at 9; evening service at 8 P. M. "More love to Thee, O Christ!"

VISIT THE COAST.

Mr. Wm. Ziegenbalg and family and Mr. Ziegenbalg's father, Ernest Ziegenbalg of Lytle, motored down to the coast last week and spent the week-end at Riviera Beach where they had a most enjoyable time.

Returning Monday by way of Three Rivers they visited the glass factory at that place and were shown through the plant where four machines were busy turning out four different forms of glassware, beer bottles, fruit jars, etc. Each machine had a capacity of forty articles per minute and the total output was 140 articles per minute. The plant works three eight hour shifts and never stops day or night.

Mr. Ziegenbalg was disappointed in the crops he saw on the trip and says army worms have done considerable damage.

BOOSTERS TO HAVE DANCE.

The Medina County Boosters Club is sponsoring Jimmie Klein and his 11-piece orchestra in a grand dance, to be held Saturday night, August 24, in the Hondo Fair Grounds Hall. Dancing will be during the hours from 9:30 P. M. to 1:30 A. M. In addition to the tune-ful dance melodies, the orchestra will feature Margaret Klein, accordionist, who will play and sing for the entertainment of the dancers and the on-lookers. The dance will be held, rain or shine.

It is one of those entertainments the Boosters boast about.

Being News, Views and Reviews

By the

MANAGING EDITOR.

The railroad crossing warning to "stop, look and listen" should apply with force to any proposed change in our fundamental law. For instance, a friend informs the M. E. that he will vote for the old age pension amendment because he is old enough to share in its benefits. That friend owes the money he borrowed to pay his 1934 taxes, millions of dollars in taxes are delinquent because thousands of taxpayers were not so situated as to be able to borrow, and the state is several million dollars behind in payment of its obligations. In the face of such a situation, it is proposed to double or possibly treble the state's tax demands by adding to them the burden of the pension payment. In face of such a situation, is it not better for the aged, rather than expecting help from the state, to consider first the possibility of the state's absorbing their life's savings through increased taxation and leaving them dependent in their old age upon the doubtful charity of a bunch of politicians?

The hammer-swinger of this column again reiterates his purpose to vote against all the proposed amendments save one in the election Saturday. In doing this, he shall not be surprised at being on the losing side all around. Indifference on the part of all save those who have a selfish purpose to serve may enable that small active element to put over all six of the amendments that we oppose. Amendments have been adopted with less than ten per cent of the voters favoring them. On the other hand, the prohibition repeal amendment is the only one receiving any serious opposition and seems the one most likely to be defeated. The prohibition forces seem anxious to hold fast to the shadow of what they call prohibition and are fighting with their old time vigor. The brewers seem to think the present status leaves them with nothing more to desire—they can't manufacture beer fast enough to supply the demand. And judging from the indifference of the distillers, they, too, are satisfied with things as they are. With the one element content with the law and the other satisfied with its sales, it will not be surprising that the voters leave things as they are by indifferently permitting the amendment to be defeated. When the crusading prohibitionists, the brewers, the distillers and the bootleggers make common cause, albeit for different reasons, for the common purpose of retaining a situation satisfactory to all four the odds are likely to be too great against the rest of us. If you want repeal to carry bestir yourself and vote for that amendment.

STAND ON YOUR OWN LEGS.

A federal court has declared that the government's processing tax—backbone of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration Act—is illegal. The case will next go to the Supreme Court which, according to eminent legal authorities, is almost certain to uphold the decision of the lower tribunal.

If that happens, it will mean that the present program of government farm relief has virtually collapsed. And that illustrates something that every citizen would do well to think about—that governmental efforts to aid any class or group, no matter how well intentioned, are inevitably transitory and unstable.

For many years leading farm spokesmen have said that, in the long view, the farmer's salvation will depend upon his efforts, his own work, his own abilities. The bulk of thinking farmers share that view. They know that self-help is the only kind of help that can produce permanent results. And they are planning and working accordingly.

Better and more scientific farming, plus improved buying and selling methods made possible by agricultural cooperatives, are the great influences behind farm progress.—Industrial News Review.

All of which is true as gospel as far as it goes.

Government aid of the present socialistic-paternalistic kind is destined, sooner or later, to prove more harmful than helpful.

At the same time, "self-help" must prove of no avail so long as the farmer is left the victim of robbing special privilege.

"Self-help" will win when the farmer is given a free market for his produce; when he is given a national credit currency that will relieve him of extortionate interest rates and unbearable taxation; when competitive transportation rates move his goods to and fro at reasonable freight costs.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETS.

The Medina County Board of Education met at Hondo August 17, at the courthouse. The following bus routes were approved and drivers' contracts approved: Yancey, three routes; Lytle-LaCoste route, and Fly route. Biry route was postponed for time being until further investigations could be made. The scholastic apportionment was prorated to the several districts.

As the old school year fades away and the new year begins to dawn upon us, may we extend a word of gratitude to the County Board members for their service to our schools, which they have executed with all sincerity and faithfulness.

The Superintendent's annual conference which took place at A. & M. College July 29-August 2 was of much benefit. Many school problems were discussed and cleared.

The Conference held at San Antonio August 13 for the benefit of trustee boards also proved to be one of considerable help, the subjects of discussion were transportation, classification, consolidation, and new regulations. One of the new regulations that will possibly interest most of our rural people is that no transportation aid will be granted this year unless a district has fifty cents of local maintenance. It is pleasing to know that several of our local boards were present.

Progress from a yard thickly set with black brush to one which is showing excellent shrub and tree arrangement in much less time than a year has been made by Mrs. J. T. Preston, yard improvement demonstrator for the Dilley home demonstration club, according to Mrs. Neff, Frio county home demonstration agent. In the fall of 1919, Mrs. Preston started her work of clearing the yard preparing for planting. She now has her yard planned according to a well made plan with one acre of planting which will hide the view of barns, 22 trees consisting of elms, ash, crepe myrtle, mock oranges, persimmons, figs and apricots. Also, interesting groups around the house and in corners of the yard, Mrs. Preston has 12 native shrubs which she transplanted from pastures consisting of seneca, mountain laurel, nandina and a native fern. She was far sighted in setting these shrubs out in that she allowed space for growth of the shrubs as they will not crowd too much when they have reached maturity. In addition, the Prestons have planned shelter from the sun for their chickens by planting seven trees in the chicken yards, consisting of elms, mulberries and hackberries.

James W. Potts, Stonewall county agricultural agent and former 4-H club boy, has been awarded a $1000 fellowship for nine months' study in the U. S. Department of Agriculture offered by the Payne Fund of New York City, according to O. B. Martin, Extension director. Potts was raised on a farm in Lubbock county and was graduated from Lubbock High School in 1929. In 1933 he received a B. S. degree from Texas Technological College, majoring in agronomy. Potts started 4-H club work in 1921 with a pig that won third place at the county fair. With premium money won on a registered gilt in 1922 he bought a Jersey calf and started a dairy herd which practically paid his way through college. He also carried demonstrations in pure line grain sorghum seed production, beef cattle and cotton. Total profits for one three-year period were $2,489.55 or an average of $829.85 per year.

Mrs. R. S. Vaughn of Hondo and Miss Alberta Ebeling of Round Mountain, Texas, were the names called Tuesday night to receive the two $100.00 bank accounts at the Colonial Theatre's bank night event. Neither lady was present. Miss Ebeling is a relative of Mr. and Mrs. Max Wenmohs of Hondo and visited them here on a former occasion. The $40.00 account would have gone to Mr. H. F. LeBaron of San Antonio had he been present. The three accounts for next week are two $100 and one $50.00 announces Manager R. L. Jennings.

Miss Audrey Stein of Fredericksburg is the guest of Miss Mary Emma Finger this week. The two girls were classmates at Incarnate Word College last year. Miss Finger is entertaining her guest with a camping party on the Frio River at ConCat, about five couples of young people leaving Tuesday morning for the camp, accompanied by Mrs. J. M. Finger as chaperone. They plan to return at the end of the week.

PREVENTING CHIGGER BITES IS BETTER THAN CURING THEM.

When chiggers grow older they reform, mend their ways, and cease to be the seasonal source of annoyance and inconvenience to many victims which was characteristic of their flaming youth. A chigger, F. C. Bishop of the United States Department of Agriculture explains, is the first or larval stage of a large red velvet mite which is entirely harmless when mature. Contrary to the popular impression chiggers do not burrow into the skin and require extraction for relief. The chigger, minute in size though it is, is capable of injecting a considerable quantity of poisonous material into its host, and it is this poison that causes all the discomfort, the persistent itching that follows chigger bites.

Destroying the chiggers does not seem possible, the Bureau of Entomology says, in areas which are covered with woods and undergrowth, but preliminary studies by the bureau indicate they can be checked in the vicinity of homes and camps by clearing away the underbrush, vines, and weeds from such areas, keeping the grass cut close, and by following these measures with applications of flowers of sulphur or very fine dusting sulphur. It appears, the bureau says, that from 5 to 10 pounds of sulphur scattered over an ordinary city lot will give a high degree of control, sometimes from a single treatment, but it is usually best to repeat the application two or three times at intervals of one to two weeks. This is especially necessary when the applications are followed by rain.

Humans are by no means the only victims of the chigger. Normally they feed upon small wild animals, including snakes and lizards and they may attack birds. They are a pest of considerable importance to poultry, and are especially troublesome on late hatched chicks and turkeys. Heavily infested chicks soon become droopy and drowsy, later may show symptoms of paralysis, and quite frequently die from the attack within a few days. Early hatching usually prevents losses of poultry. Late hatches should be kept out of high grass and brush when chiggers are prevalent. The use of sulphur as described gives some protection, but usually if the chicks are brooded by a hen and allowed free ranges they will become infested. On chickens the chiggers are inclined to attach in dense masses on the parts of the body less covered by down or feathers, and a light dusting with sulphur will give some relief.

No method has been found for giving an entirely satisfactory protection to people. When going into places where chiggers abound, the bureau advises that it is well to wear high-top shoes over the trousers, or leather leggings. Dusting the body and underwear with flowers of sulphur will give a high degree of protection from attack.

AIR-CONDITIONING BRINGS WASPS ALIVE FROM EGYPT.

Traveling over the fastest air and water routes, three lots of promising little wasps from Egypt recently reached the United States. They are now building up an army soon to be turned loose against the pink bollworm in the few North American cotton fields invaded by this pest. The pink boll worm—the most destructive cotton pest in nearly all the important cotton-growing countries of the world—has not yet reached the main Cotton Belt here. Every effort is being made to keep it from doing so.

"A few of these wasps," says C. P. Clausen, in charge of insect parasite introduction, "were obtained with the assistance of the Egyptian Ministry of Agriculture and increased by entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture on the other side of the world. Then they were shipped to the Department's insectary at Presidio, Texas, making the trip from Cairo in about 2 weeks."

One of the small aliens—Microbracon kirkpatricki—has long been a natural enemy of pink bollworms in East Africa. It was successfully colonized in Egypt several years ago, but efforts to import it into North America failed. The delicate little insect could not stand the long, hard journey. Air express and fast ocean liners, with modern refrigeration facilities, however, have removed the hazards of travel for Microbracon. From the Egyptian parents that came safely over the great stretch of land and sea a large number of American-born wasps are now ready in the Presidio insectary for release in cotton fields.

The other two insect newcomers—Exeristes roborator and Elasmus—are native parasites of the pink bollworm in Egypt. Some time ago Exeristes was brought into the United States from Europe to prey on the European corn borer. When liberated against the pink bollworm in Texas, however, this wasp seemed unable to adapt itself to conditions there. Perhaps, entomologists say, the strain from the banks of the Nile will do better.

W. C. Pierce, a feed crop demonstrator of Navarro county, reports that stock beet have been a life-saver to his stock of hogs during the winter of 1934-35. As a result of drought, his corn and other feed crops were almost an entire failure and had it not been for a crop of stock beet that were planted early in the spring of 1934 and harvested in November, he would have had to go out of the hog business. Mr. Pierce produces enough hogs each year to supply meat and lard for himself and three families who reside on his two farms. He advised that since the first of March his brood sows and pigs have been kept on pasture and stock beet supplemented with a little cotton seed meal and bran fed in stop once daily.

ALONG GARDEN WALKS.

During the past weeks, wife and I have been storing away our orchard and garden harvest for the winter months. We have sweet potatoes and Mr. Spuds. Tomatoes and other vegetables are plentiful and we are pickling and canning freely. Our pots, jars and bottles will be well filled with sweet-sour pickles, relishes and juices of all kinds. Barns are undergoing repairs preparatory to filling with Indian corn and the smoke house with lard and bacon. Plenty of chickens on the poultry yard and fine milch cows down in the pasture. There is a living in this cock-eyed world for every man and it is only necessary to pay a price in order to acquire it. "By the sweat of your brow you shall eat bread." We do not need soldier bonuses, government handouts and old age pensions. We only need to work. The seasons will come and go, the flowers bloom and die and the golden harvest gathered in.

—AGW—

I have on my desk this morning two pictorial catalogues. One from a bulb grower and exporter in Holland and another from a seed merchant in Italy. The Dutch farmer in Holland wants to sell me bulbs, according to his argument that cannot be successfully grown in our soil and climate. The Italian merchant offers American grown tomato seed cheaper than they can be grown on our farms. These Dutchmen and Italians use their heads. The Dutch farmers search the world for a market and find it and the Italian merchants send trained buyers over here to contract for the entire seed by-products of American canneries and packing plants. They both prosper. Tomato seed of all varieties are saved, packed in heavy sacks and transported to Naples, Italy, and from there shipped back to our distributors and they pass them on to us in pretty packages. Business works in a cunning way. Our flowers and vegetables are now offering fine seed, and we can do no better than save the best for next year's planting. Save your own seed.

—AGW—

La Place, that old plantation in Louisiana, upholds the colorful traditions of by-gone days. It is located on the east bank of the Mississippi and a few miles North of New Orleans. Its broad acres extend for miles each way. The big white house and stately trees overlook the river and surrounding country. The cabins are in the cotton. Commensary, gin and church are conveniently located and the mecca for the farm people. The barns are bursting with feed and a little village within itself. The dove cote with its inmates making love, the woodbine growing around the tree and the winding trail leading through the orchard, the meadow and on to the setting sun adds grandeur to the colorful surroundings. On this farm are fine mules, cattle, poultry, and all the rest. The soil that was put in cultivation by slave labor during the days of LaFayette is fertile and produce abundantly everything good to eat. Those plantation children have all the comforts of life.

—AGW—

On the front piazza of the big white house my hostess and I were met by a French-creole maiden 18 years of age. She extended to us a cup of piping hot creole coffee. The coffee pot was steaming, the cream and sugar bowl immaculately clean, the waiter artistic and spoons solid gold of colonial pattern. After sipping, we returned the cups to the young lady dressed in white. While riding over the plantation I noted the behavior of the people. The old master and his lady were farmers and good ones. They knew how to plough corn and rake hay; take advantage of boll weevils and weather. They knew the best time to plant zinnies and potatoes. They knew how the mules should be managed and the pigs fed. La Place prospered.

—AGW—

La Place plantation represents a great investment and for hundreds of years has been prosperous. The managers have always been trained farmers; men and women who lived close to the soil and were interested in their job. There is a science in growing flowers and cultivating cane. It cannot be done in a haphazard way. Negroes on La Place had their training. They know how to dig potatoes, butcher hogs and work in the flower garden. That old plantation master traced his ancestors back to the early days of French history and found them to be men with the hoe. Great plantations come and go but the La Place goes on forever. Not only is that argument true with that plantation but likewise so with the little farm by the side of the road. Success in farming depends upon the individual. Not luck.

CRY OF THE MODERN SLAVE.

The last few years has seen humanity wear yokes that were too great for them to bear: their children cry for bread. A theme to me for bitter tears. Is there no one to care or raise the Cross of Christ before the world and bid His children rest from ceaseless toil; when every granary in the land is full and running over from the fertile soil? If we are God's, then who shall have the right to say, "Take this; on this I'll turn the key, for great must be MY wealth, my hoarded store, and you and you, EAT LESS, for now, you see, you are my chosen slave forevermore."

What Vocation Shall My Boy Choose?

By Morris Lawrence,
Director, School of Chemistry,

We live in a changing world. Opportunities for success in the future will differ from those in the past. A young man's wise choice of his life work may do much to determine success or failure. How shall he choose?

A Career in Chemistry

PRIOR to the World War, European chemists were world leaders in the profession. In the manufacture of a vast number of synthetic products and in the production of various metals and alloys, the world acknowledged the supremacy of the European chemist.

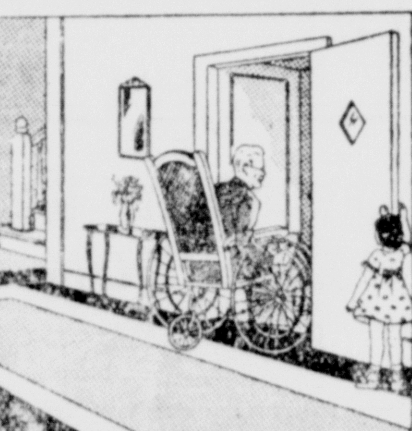

With the outbreak of the War, American chemists were faced with the necessity of producing a great number of products that had hitherto been imported. The manner in which they met the situation has relieved us of the necessity of ever again depending upon Europe for most of these products. American chemists proved themselves equal to those of any other nation. Their success opened wide the door for ambitious young Americans with a bent toward the test tube and the laboratory.

Today three-fourths of all our manufacturing operations are dependent upon the skill and research of the chemist. The chemist has created a modern world of wonders far beyond the wildest imaginings of the ancient alchemists, but the future holds possibilities of equally amazing triumphs. Production of new power fuels, the manufacture of new synthetic products, the development of new by-products from the waste piles of industry, all await the successful conclusion of the chemist's research.

Far into the future chemistry should continue to offer a career of great promise to young men in this country. Technical training must, of course, be acquired; either by study at a university or technical school or by study in spare time while working on the job. For those who choose the latter course, the obvious procedure is to seek a beginner's position in a plant manufacturing chemicals, paints and varnishes, or any of the other products in which chemistry plays an important part. Both courses have produced outstanding leaders in the profession.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

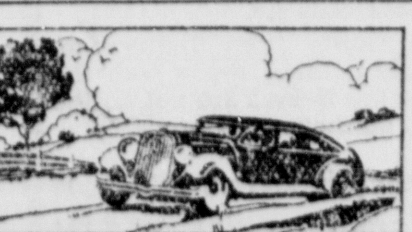

HERE is some especially cheering news for families that include an aged person, a convalescent or one afflicted in such a way that stair-climbing is painful or dangerous. Residence elevators, once found only in millionaires' mansions, are now being made by a leading manufacturer at a cost no greater than that of a good automobile. The installation is said to be a simple matter, requiring surprisingly few changes in the home. Through the Home Owners' Loan Association it is possible to have the cost of the installation financed.

Have you ever noticed the tiny, low piles that give that rich sheen and soft feel to the mohair velvet upholstery on your furniture or in your car? Proving that little things can add up to amazing totals, it has been estimated that in a single automobile, an average-size sedan, more than 92 miles of thread are represented by the pile fibres. In textile phraseology, these piles supply the third dimension, giving mohair velvet fabrics their beauty and durability.

A SOLUTION of washing soda and water applied with a stiff brush will remove corrosion from storage battery terminals. Coat terminals with vaseline to prevent further corrosion.

If the rubber weatherstrips around the windshield are enclosed in T-slots it is often a difficult job to remove the old strips in order to replace them with new ones. To make a difficult job an easier one, play a small flame from a soldering torch over the old strips. The softened rubber can easily be dug out with a screwdriver.

RAIN THAT ONCE RAN AWAY NOW CREEPS OFF TERRACES.

Terracing and contour tillage as recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture has proved its value in the Middle West and Southwest, as rains have come after months—and in some cases, years—of drought. Runoff has been retarded. More moisture has been retained. In general, the soil is in better condition than for years.

Letters from the once dry States tell the story. A farmer in Brown County, Kans., writes: "You should see those terraces I built last year. Rain that once ran away, now creeps off. A lot of it doesn't get away at all, but goes right down into the sub-soil."

Contour listing on terraced land on the Limestone Creek project of the Soil Conservation Service in Jewell County, Kans., was damaged little by the heavy rains in May. "Adjoining fields, not so handled, not only lost much soil, but in many cases the corn will have to be replanted," says F. L. Duley, director of the project. "Heavy rains—one of 3 inches in 30 minutes—caused a few breaks in terraces, but these indicated faulty construction which will be remedied in the future."

Moisture conservation measures on the wind erosion project at Dalhart in the Texas Panhandle likewise proved their value in heavy rains. According to a report by H. H. Finnell, director of the project, actual tests show rainfall soaked in twice as deep on contoured land as it did on fields of the same soil type and topography where no moisture conservation measures were used.

"Rains in the drought area have provided the first seasonal opportunity in several years for real control of wind erosion," says H. H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service. "Lack of moisture has prevented farmers from establishing a protective cover crop to anchor the soil. Moisture is now available. Farmers can take full advantage of the chance to start a permanent system of soil protection which will make a recurrence of the recent dust storms almost impossible."

If the rows in her garden were laid end to end and 334 more feet were planted, Hilda Thielman, second year club member of the Lamar Girls' Home Demonstration Club in Fort Bend county, would have to hoe one mile of garden. She has reported 366 feet of dewberries, 488 feet of tomatoes, 1026 feet of leafy vegetables, 3478 feet of other vegetables, and 488 feet of peanuts, making a total of 4846 feet. To date she has gathered 44 pounds of fresh vegetables and 21 gallons of berries for use at home.

BIG POULTRY FEED RESEARCH ADVANCE.

A startling announcement has been made to the poultry world and another is being made along with it in this community. Vitamin A, which scientists have recently found a way to isolate for human consumption, is now being put into poultry feeds. A new ingredient introduced to poultrymen the country over, is now available to farmers and poultry raisers in this locality, according to Earl Watson, feed supply dealer. It is called Pur-a-tene and is found exclusively in Purina Feeds, he said.

Newspapers throughout the country have been talking of this amazing discovery. Through the facilities of the Purina Experimental Farm and Research Laboratories, a new process has been developed of extracting Carotene (Vitamin A in its primary form) from plants and converting it into Pur-a-tene.

"All poultry raisers know that hens need Vitamin A for body maintenance," Watson told a reporter of this paper yesterday, "and recent experiments have proven beyond a doubt that when hens receive sufficient Vitamin A, they remain in better health and lay more eggs."

"Pur-a-tene is concentrated green feed," he said. "It is rich in Vitamin A because it is made from nature's richest store-house of this vitamin—the yellow coloring matter in plants and vegetables. It contains 750 times as much Vitamin A as yellow cornmeal which has been considered one of the best sources of Vitamin A. Each bag of Purina Laying Chows contains enough Pur-a-tene to step up its Vitamin A activity to two and one half times its former strength."

"With the poultry outlook brighter today than it has been in many years," commented Mr. Watson, "this outstanding development of Purina research is being introduced at a most beneficial time for poultry raisers. Pur-a-tene will mean a great deal to them in extra eggs, improved health of hens and greater poultry profits."

Pastures are one of his best paying crops, according to C. D. Stone of Blevins community in Falls county. Last fall Stone planted four acres of rye grass along with oats for winter grazing. The freeze during February killed the oats, and Stone thought the rye grass was also killed, but he says the grass put out again in March and has furnished grazing for eight head of work mules this spring. The rye grass made a heavy dense sod which permitted grazing even in wet weather on black land. It is making seed now and Stone plans to harvest this and increase his acreage of this grass for pasture another year. He has also planted 40 acres to sudan grass for summer pasture and is grazing 40 head of yearling steers on it. He plans to feed these cattle a light feed of meal through the summer and finish off on grain for the early market this fall.

DEVINE NEWSLETS

From The Devine News.
MONDAY.

Miss Lola Spivey, who handles the
big scales at the Adams Co. sheller
and elevator, reports weighing 70
loads of corn Monday. At 7:30 Tuesday morning, after running all night,
part time on corn stored in the building, there were ten truck-loads on the
yards, awaiting the unloading racks;
where the trucks are tilted and four
to six men feed the elevator lifts.
Miss Spivey said a total of 250 loads
had reached the sheller; her own corn
was the first load shelled. Miss Lola
is some farmer herself and has done
the weighing for the elevator for several years. About fifty per cent of the loads are on mule and horse wagons, the other half trucks. The loads
range from 25 to 50 bushels per load.
The price so far paid has been 55
cents the bushel.

SAN ANTONIO LIVESTOCK. Monday, August 19th.

Supplies in the cattle division of the San Antonio livestock market were not up to the usual heavy runs for Monday, and salesmen were enabled to hold price levels fully steady to slightly higher in spots. Best calves and light yearlings sold up to $6.00, but quality offerings were more liberal than at the close of last week. Best heavy beef bulls were also stronger with $4.25 paid readily and slightly higher paid sparingly for choicest individuals. Cow cutters and cutters were active at $1.75 to $2.75. Heavy steers of quality moved out at $4.50 to $5.00. Stocker steer yearlings were in active demand at $5.00 to $6.00. Trading was active on light receipts.

Choice 175-250 pound truck hogs moved up another 25 cents for a new high top of $11.00. No rail lots arrived to test further pressure on the market. Medium and heavyweights of quality sold readily at $8.75 to $10.50. The demand for feeder pigs was heavy at $7.00 to $8.00.

No sheep were received for market. Goats continued in heavy supply and cashed slowly at $1.25 to $1.50.

Receipts and quotations Monday were: Cattle, 335 head; calves, 398 head; calves, common and rannies, $2.50 @ 3.50; general spread of calves, $3.75 @ 5.00; better kinds to choice, $5.25 @ 6.00; common to

Nerves

Do they torture you by day?
Keep you awake at night?

What is it that keeps hospitals open and doctors
busy? NERVES.

What is it that makes your face wrinkled and
makes you feel old? NERVES.

Nine times out of ten it's NERVES that make you
restless, worried, haggard.

Nerves

Do they make you Cranky,
Blue--give you Nervous Indigestion, Nervous Headache?

When nerves are over-taxed, you worry over
trifles, find it hard to concentrate, can't sit still.
Nerve Strain brings on Headache.

Nervous people often suffer from Indigestion.
There may be absolutely nothing wrong with the
organs of digestion, but the Nerves are not on the job to make the organs do their work properly.

Nerves

Do they interfere with your
work; ruin your pleasure; drive
away your friends?

You're cheating yourself and the man who pays
you if you work when your NERVES are not normal.

You can't have a good time when you are nervous.
You can't make or keep friends when you are keyed up and irritable. You may excuse yourself, but to others you are just a plain crank.

ATTEND NATIONAL GUARD REVIEW.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Jungman attended the review of the 36th Division of the Texas National Guard at Camp Huilen, near Palacios, Friday of last week. They witnessed the inspiring scene of 7,000 Guardsmen pass in review before their commander, Major-General John A. Huilen, and at the same time bid him farewell as their commander as he will retire on account of age on September 9th. This will, therefore, be his last general review of the organization which he has worked for forty-six years to build up and many of whom were with him in France where he served the Division in the World War. He will be succeeded by Major-General Lains.

Arthur Jungman, also a World War veteran, is a First Lieutenant in the Division and Mr. and Mrs. Jungman were guests of their son while at the encampment.

They report a most enjoyable visit with the soldiers despite the extreme heat, and returned home by way of Houston where they visited their other son, J. Frank Jungman, and family.

WISHING.

Not only when some New Year's sounding steps upon my threshold must approach, but I am wishing a resolve through coming years may find me stronger as each day I try

To meet life's test with each recurring dawn
Through consciousness of gathered strength be brave,
Through shadowed paths help some one find the gleam
That halting footsteps often search and crave,

Or lost, through maze from paths the Master trod,
Or yet not learned that child-like trust in God.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Silliman, 2630 Wheeling St., today announced the engagement of their daughter, Hazel Agnes, to V. Harwood Blocker, son of Mrs. V. H. Blocker of Hondo, Texas, and the late Judge Blocker.

The wedding date is tentative. The ceremony will take place in the home of Miss Silliman's brother, E. R. Silliman, Jr., and Mrs. Silliman, the former Eleanor Hall of El Paso, in San Salvador, Central America.

Mr. Silliman is foreign executive representative for Pan-American Airways in San Salvador.

Miss Silliman, popular in El Paso social groups, was born in San Angelo, Texas, and came to El Paso as a child with her family. She was graduated from the El Paso School for Girls, now Radford School for Girls.

Mr. Blocker recently left El Paso for Belize after visiting Mr. and Mrs. William P. Blocker here. He has been stationed formerly in Lima, Peru; Mangemille, Mex.; Asuncion, Paraguay, and Casablanca, Morocco, Africa, where he was stationed before being ordered to Belize.

Before Mr. Blocker left for British Honduras, he and his fiancée were guests of Mrs. V. H. Blocker in Hondo. Mrs. Blocker, her son, and his fiancée visited in San Antonio and were guests of Gov. and Mrs. James Allred, in the Governor's mansion in Austin, during their stay in East Texas. Mrs. Allred and V. Announcement of the engagement follows almost immediately the announcement that Consul and Mrs. William P. Blocker will leave El Paso soon for Mr. Blocker's new station in Cuba.—El Paso Paper.

What Vocation Shall My Boy Choose?

By J. F. Witkowski,

Principal, School of the Radio,
International Correspondence
Schools, Associate Member,
Institute of Radio Engineers.

We live in a changing world. Opportunities for success in the future will differ from those in the past. A young man's wise choice of his life work may do much to determine success or failure. How shall he choose?

The Radio Engineer

RADIO engineering embraces not only the broadcasting of programs and the transmission of messages, but many applications of radio science which are still largely unfamiliar to all but the expert.

The possibilities of television are rapidly becoming better understood and the day when a television set can be installed in the home seems to be not far distant. Radio beacons are guiding the aviator by night. Research is turning to the radio tube to provide constant indication of a plane's altitude above the earth and of its approach to a mountain side or another plane. The tube controls the speed and security of express trains, is finding its way into the textile industry, the automobile industry and into mining where it is used to indicate the location of mineral deposits.

Today no one can foresee how far the development of radio will proceed or what new directions it may take. It seems certain, however, that the developments of the future will be no less important than those of the past. It seems equally certain that as the future of radio unfolds it will offer the technically trained young man a field of never failing interest, and opportunities for achievement which will be limited only by his own ability.

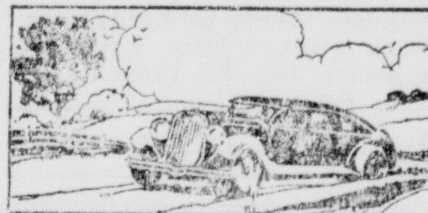

Two courses are open to the young man who chooses radio engineering as a career. He can acquire his technical training by attending an engineering school at one of the universities, and then proceed to its application. If this is impractical, he can seek a beginner's position in some branch of the radio industry and acquire his technical knowledge along with his practical experience, by study in spare time. Whichever course is chosen, hard and persevering study will be required, for the technical problems involved are so complex that real success can come only to the thoroughly trained man.

A N easy way to clean spark plugs is to spray them thoroughly with carbon tetrachloride. A few minutes after spraying, the carbon will be loosened and can easily be scraped off. Then blow the spark plugs out with compressed air. A hand fire extinguisher is useful for spraying the liquid, but any kind of spray gun can be used. Carbon tetrachloride is inexpensive and can be bought at most drug stores.

Leaks in the gasoline tank can be stopped with shellac. Remove the tank, dry it out, then pour in shellac. Swish the shellac over all the surfaces and into all the corners. Drain off the shellac and let the tank dry before re-filling.

W. G. Keilers, Refugio county, bought 155 Silver Lace Anconas in February, built a brooder house and stoves at a cost of $2 and raised 152 chicks to frying size. The brooder house including the floor was made from scrap tin. A trench big enough to hold two bracket lamps for heat was dug under the floor. The floor was then covered with two inches of sand which helped hold the heat. Midway of the house, between the back and the door, Keilers hung a pair of old wool trousers to help retain the heat in the back part. The two lamps were kept burning 24 hours a day at a cost of a few cents a week.

ANVIL SPARKS.

In short, freedom to pursue happiness in his own way, untrammelled by the unholy schemes of special privilege on the one hand or governmental regimentation on the other is what the farmer must have to enable his "self-help" to function successfully.

"SOCIALISM BREAKS DOWN CHARACTER".

In a recent address at the University of Georgia, P. S. Arkwright, President of the Georgia Power Company, said: "Ideally, the theory of socialism says that all should strive for the common good, not for individual gain. That is the idea, but in practice it works out just the other way. It breaks down character, instead of elevating it, because it destroys reliance upon self. The young American colonies would never have conquered the wilderness, if they and their leaders had been dominated by the schools of thought which now hold sway."

The examples of European countries which have adopted socialism and similar doctrines point to the danger of listening to those who would change our time-tested governmental philosophy only to adopt alien theories. Under socialism, communism, facism and the rest the individual is ruthlessly subjugated—he is simply an instrument of the state, and not a free agent. His rights and liberties are ruthlessly stepped upon—all ambition, initiative and spirit are squeezed out of him by the boot-heel of dictatorship. America, with its inspiring heritage of freedom, certainly does not want that to happen here.—Industrial News Review.

OUT OF STRUGGLE AND HARSHIP.

"Out of the struggle and hardship that has besieged the cooperative movement in many states throughout the country during the last few years, will develop a new group of friends and supporters of farmers' organizations," says the Dairymen's

NOTICE.

D'HANIS PIRATES DEFEAT KNIPPA FOR FIRST PLACE.

D'Hanis, Texas, Aug. 20.—By defeating Knippa here Sunday by a score of 8 to 2, the D'Hanis Pirates cinched first place in the Highway 99 League race. Next Sunday Knippa and Sabinal meet at Sabinal to determine who shall enter the play-off at D'Hanis, Sept. 1.

Lefty Hunt, usually effective against the Pirates, was hit rather freely and was the victim of poor support. Hunt stayed on the job until the sixth when with one gone, Jim Finger climaxed the hard hitting by leaning against a fast one and sending it out into the tall cane in left center, losing the ball and getting a home run on the drive. Nester pitched his usual steady game and was never in trouble.

Ed Finger in left field handled six putouts cleanly and the Pirate defense was airtight throughout the game. A large crowd witnessed the game.

League News of New York.

"The chaos of depression gave rise to the belief that governmental control could solve the problems of farmers. New leaders leaped into prominence over night. They gained followings, sometimes large, because they promised much, and because thousands who had been crushed by the weight of depression suffering were still ready to follow any new flag that came along.

"Of late there has been evidence of changed views—Some of the men who set out to control by mandate of law have learned that cooperatives really have something to offer. They are finding that more can be done through cooperative effort than will ever be possible by law."

You can take a horse to water but you can't make him drink—and you can pass all the laws you like but they won't necessarily work. Economic law still is superior to legislative law. If government has learned that in the case of the farmer agriculture will have a better chance to bring prosperity out of depression.—Industrial News Review.

By doing extra pasture improvement work such as mowing weeds, cleaning out brush and sowing permanent pasture seed on 15 acres, J. L. Hess, Jr., 4-H club boy from Old Union community in Titus county, figures that he increased the grazing capacity of his pasture enough to give pasturage for five cows. He estimates that this additional pasturage is worth $60 to him for the past year.

Profit is being taken out of business by putting the Government in business in competition with those who pay the taxes to operate the Government. Regulation by the Government is being rapidly expanded into competition by the Government.—Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Better Breakfasts

NOBODY minds getting up on a fine Spring morning—no body but those of us who have been out late the fine Spring night before. But since we have a way of staying out these fine Spring nights, why not use a little culinary persuasion? Here is a breakfast that smells so good in the making that only a dodderhead could lie abed.

And even a dodderhead could remain inert only until the coffee began to percolate. If it is vacuum-packed coffee, it smells like a million dollars because the flavor is fresh and the result, though inexpensive, is priceless, indeed.

Scrambled Corn on Toast: Dice three slices of bacon and fry until crisp, but avoid burning. If the bacon is very fat, pour off all but two tablespoons of the hot dripping. Beat six eggs slightly, add the contents of one No. 2 can of creamy corn, three-fourths cup of milk and salt and pepper to taste. Pour into the hot bacon fat and cook very slowly, stirring constantly, until creamy. Serve on buttered toast. This serves six.*

CASTROVILLE, TEXAS, TUESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1935

CASTROVILLE ZION'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Sunday, Aug. 25.—Sunday school and Bible class at 9:00 A. M. Divine service at 10:00 A. M.

Sunday, Sept. 1.—Regular English service.

The Ladies' Aid meets on Wednesday, August 28th at Arthur Kriedwald's. All members and friends are cordially invited.

The parents of prospective confirmands are kindly requested to see me after the service.

K. KONZACK, Pastor.

Friends have received cards from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hans of San Antonio, who left Sunday on a motor trip to Monterey, Mexico.

Will Morris, attorney of San Antonio, was a business visitor here Thursday.

Preparations are rapidly going forward for the 25th of August celebration. A large crowd is anticipated.

Otto Haegelin and Fritz Droitecourt of River Side were business visitors here Monday evening.

The hottest weather of the summer was felt here on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Chas. Suchs and family made a trip to Carlsbad Cavern in New Mexico last week.

The relief office here as well as the main office at Hondo were closed last Thursday we are informed.

Mrs. A. A. Christiles of San Antonio is spending several days with her mother, Mrs. Peter Rihn.

Most farmers are about finished with their feed crops and corn gathering is in full blast. Most everyone that wants work can get it. Hegari and maize are the largest crops in history and the corn will also make a good yield.

Interest is lacking in the election to be held Saturday, the 24th of August. As Chairman of the Repeal Forces in Medina County we urge all to turn out and express their will. If a large number of voters stay at home and allow a small minority to control their destinies they will have no cause to complain if it turns out against their interests. So, again, we urge all to turn out and vote.

The ground is getting dry and a good rain now would help fall crops which are beginning to suffer.

Constable Henry Haller wanted to arrest two Mexicans Sunday night but in the dark one got away and was still at large several days after the other one was lodged in Sheriff Schuchle's Bastile at Hondo, where he is getting board and $3.00 a day to satisfy a foolish law.

THE WARNING.

(Montrose, California.)

Glad hearts welcomed in the New Year

Of nineteen thirty and four, As the night wore on, they hastened Homeward, as Pluvius tore The heaviest cloud asunder And the raging flood swept down To engulf the weak and helpless Upon the dark streets of town. And when the bright sunshine gathered

On the scene of yesterday, There was wreckage and disaster And sadness all of the way.

But what is this on the driftwood Unharmed by the raging flood, A Bible with yellow pages Open wide . . . and the workers stood With heads uncovered, reading The Sixty Ninth Psalm (by the fire) "Save me Oh God, for the waters Are come. I sink in deep mire."
